

The Research Unit Muscle Biology and Growth offers a position for a

Postdoctoral scientist
as leader of a working group
(TVL E 14)

This tenure-track position is available for 3 years from July 15, 2012.
A permanent employment of the successful candidate is designated.

Position No.: 2012-03

Working area

The successful applicant will lead a working group investigating physiological principles of development and growth of farm animals. The applicant should be able to identify relevant research topics, to conceive appropriate research strategies and to solve problems in an interdisciplinary approach.

Requirements

- Completed university education in biology, animal sciences, medicine or veterinary sciences; completed Ph.D. or equivalent
- Experience as Postdoctoral researcher preferably in the working area
- Habilitation or adequate qualification would be beneficial
- Experiences in scientific publication and as scientific reviewer
- Readiness for international collaborations
- Experiences in applications for external funding
- Social skills in leading collaborators in interdisciplinary approaches

For further details please contact Prof. Steffen Maak, (maak@fbn-dummerstorf.de; Tel. 038208 68 850).

The FBN attempts to increase the number of female staff and strongly encourages woman to apply. Disabled persons will be preferred given equal aptitude and technical and scientific qualification. Therefore, disabled applicants are asked to include a photocopy of their respective disability card and to indicate on their status in their application. Only applicants will considered that fulfill the requirements for getting a fixed-termed working contract according to § 2 WissZeitVG.

Costs for application and travel within the context of the application cannot be refunded.

Please submit meaningful applications referring to the indicated number of advertisement to Leibniz-Institute for farm animal biology
Verwaltung (2012-03)
Wilhelm-Stahl-Allee 2
18196 Dummerstorf
Germany

Selection process will start on the 1st of May 2012. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

For further information: www.fbn-dummerstorf.de.